

Dealing with a victim of domestic abuse?

Let NCDV be your backup and their safety net

When the criminal process falls away civil orders can protect those subjected to domestic abuse.

Promoting victim protection with NCDV

Obtaining a civil protective order quickly after an incident can significantly increase someone's chances of breaking free from abuse. At a time when the national safeguarding landscape is under pressure, NCDV can secure swift protection while the victim considers their next steps or awaits support from local commissioned services.

Why refer to NCDV?

30%

We've helped secure around 30% of all non-molestation and occupation orders in England and Wales in recent years.

Our team has over 20 years of experience supporting frontline professionals like you.

Our service is designed to work alongside police safeguarding efforts.

Not eligible for Legal Aid? We have one of the biggest pro bono teams in the country.

For those who engage with us, we signpost to other relevant services who can offer additional support.

Orders are logged with the local police force and accessible 24/7 for police officers via our ASSIT database where copies of orders and proof of serving are held.

Refer in 30 seconds using the NCDV app or the refer direct icon on our website.

Order free publicity materials online under the 'police and agencies' section of our website.

Book free one-hour civil protection order training via the training tab on our website.